COMMISSIONER FOR PATENTS

DECLARATION OF FRANCISCO J. CANDAL

1. I, Francisco J. Candal, am a Patent Advisor for the Assignee of the above-referenced patent, namely The United States of America as Represented by the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (hereinafter "the Government"). I am employed by the Government in the Technology Transfer Office (TTO) at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in Atlanta, Georgia. I began working at TTO as a Marketing Specialist in June 2004 under the supervision of Russ Metler who trained me in patent matters. During the following years I managed several patent families at TTO, interacted with outside patent counsel, and advised inventors about patent matters. I subsequently became a Patent Advisor on April 1, 2007, although I had been performing many of the duties of a Patent Advisor since January of that year.

2. In 2007 and 2008, I was the contact at CDC for receiving physical files from Needle & Rosenberg, the outside patent counsel responsible for the above referenced patent. On August 28, 2007, we were contacted by Alicia Sheffield of Needle & Rosenberg, at that time former outside counsel for the CDC. Ms. Sheffield informed me that there were approximately 328 patent files remaining at Needle & Rosenberg that their firm planned to transfer to the CDC. Ms. Sheffield informed me on August 31, 2007 that the Records Department at Needle & Rosenberg had assembled all of the CDC's files that were at Needle & Rosenberg and packaged them for shipment.

3. On September 10, 2007, Ms. Sheffield emailed me a list of all "active" files and a list of all "inactive" files that were at Needle & Rosenberg, and were ready to be shipped. Copies of these emails are attached as Exhibits A and B. It was my understanding of CDC procedures at that time that files for patents and patent applications that were in active prosecution or required other action (such as payment of maintenance fees) would be transferred from Needle & Rosenberg directly to one of the two new law firms the CDC had contracted with to handle patent prosecution. It was also my understanding that files for expired patents and abandoned patent applications were shipped from Needle & Rosenberg directly to the CDC for storage at the CDC Technology Transfer Office in Atlanta, Ga. These events occurred a year after the patent contract with Needle & Rosenberg had expired and the new contract firms had assumed responsibility for prosecuting CDC patent matters. I therefore believed that the files remaining at Needle & Rosenberg were inactive, and all active files had been transferred to the new law firms (Klarquist Sparkman LLP (hereinafter "Klarquist Sparkman") and Gifford, Krass, Sprinkle, Anderson & Citowski, P.C. (hereinafter "Gifford Krass")), who would advise of any deadlines for action. I therefore did not review the lists that were emailed by Ms. Sheffield.

4. Twenty boxes of files were shipped by Needle and Rosenberg to the CDC by Federal Express on September 28, 2007. On October 19, 2007, Ms. Sheffield contacted me to confirm that the CDC received the boxes. At that time, I emailed Ms. Sheffield and confirmed receipt of the boxes. A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit B.

5. On November 28, 2008, a Notice of Patent Expiration ("Notice") for U.S. Patent No. 6,126,944 was received at the CDC by U.S. mail, as evidenced by a date stamp on the Notice that can be seen in Exhibit C. This Notice was mailed to the CDC from Needle & Rosenberg.

November 28, 2008 was the Friday after Thanksgiving and I was not in the Office. When I returned to the office, the Notice was in my inbox. The procedure at the CDC was that when patent correspondence, such as a Notice of Expiration, was received, the patent correspondence would be first date stamped by Sharon Shropshire and then sent to one of the members of the administrative staff (Cynthia Sherwood or Veronica Brown) to be scanned and entered into our electronic database (Inteum). Relevant deadlines would be noted in the electronic system. The patent correspondence would then be provided to the appropriate Patent Advisor.

6. A CDC reference number was not on the Notice, so I did a computer search to identify the CDC reference number, and wrote the reference number on the document. Once the reference number was identified, I realized the matter was not on my docket. Thus, I wrote the reference number on the Notice, and on December 4, 2008 emailed a copy of the Notice to other professionals at the Technology Transfer Office at the CDC, specifically the other patent advisor, Valentin Fikovsky, and the director, Dr. Andrew Watkins. I also copied the licensing personnel, Suzanne Shope and Donald Prather. Cindy Sherwood was sent a copy of this email as well. A copy of my email is attached as Exhibit D. I stated in my December 4, 2008 email that I was not sure if the file had been transferred from Needle & Rosenberg. Since this patent was licensed, I believed the appropriate Patent Advisor would assume responsibility for determining if any action was required.

7. As this matter is not on my docket, the expiration of this patent did not come to my attention again until May 6, 2011, when Ms. Shope requested that I determine if the Notice arrived by mail. I provided all records that I had with regard to the file transfer and the Notice of Expiration.

8. It is my understanding that on April 13, 2011, a search in PAIR was performed to determine the patent term of U.S. Patent No. 6,126,944 in order to determine how long the CDC would continue to collect royalties on the licenses for this patent. At that time, the CDC determined the second maintenance fee was never paid. On April 13, 2011 the boxes that were shipped from Needle & Rosenberg directly to CDC for storage were reviewed and the patent file for U.S. Patent No. 6,126,944 was located in those boxes.

9. Our current outside patent counsel, Klarquist Sparkman, contacted Ballard Spahr, who acquired Needle & Rosenberg in June 2008 to request copies of documents related to the file transfer. Ballard and Spahr provided a copy of a letter from Needle & Rosenberg, dated September 29, 2007 addressed to the CDC regarding the file transfer. A status table was attached to this letter, showing which files were included in the shipment. This status table indicates that active files were included in the shipment, including the file for U.S. Patent 6,126,944. Ballard Spahr also provided a copy of the Needle & Rosenberg internal checklist for outgoing transferred files. This checklist indicates that Needle & Rosenberg would forward correspondence for these matters, but would not retain any copies of the transferred files. This is consistent with my receipt of the Notice of Expiration. A copy of all the materials received from Ballard and Spahr is attached as Exhibit E.

10. I do not have any record or recollection that I received the letter dated September 29, 2007 (one day after the shipment was sent by Federal Express) or the status table at the time the files were transferred. I have looked for this recently, but did not find a copy of this letter or the status table in the CDC files. Thus, I cannot confirm the letter and status table were received by the CDC in 2007.

11. All statements made herein and of my own knowledge are true and all statements made on information are believed to be true; and further, these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code, and that any such willful false statements made may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.

Paco,

Attached is a list of all CDC "active" matters that remain on the docket. Please note, however that there may be additional files here that are marked inactive on the docket but have not yet been transferred.

Please note that I-001-05 is due for national phase filing on September 25.

Alicia

Alicia;

How many boxes are there? If you can generate a report, that will be very helpful. Thanks, Paco

Paco:

As requested, I asked our Records Department to gather all CDC files that remain on our shelf and provide me with a total number of files. These files are boxed and ready for shipment. At the moment, I do not have an inventory of what technologies they relate to. However, I believe our Docket system can generate a report that includes the title of each application and the lead inventor.

These are a lot of files; do you have an inventory of what technologies these files relate to?

Good morning Alicia;

I checked w/ PGO and Lisa Lombard told me that charges for shipping the files to us could be billed to the contract under "other services". Can you (N&R) arrange for a "courier" company to pick the boxes and have them deliver them here? We would need sort of guesstimate to find a TO with the funds to cover the cost. Please advice & Thanks you.

As requested, I asked our Records Department to gather all CDC files that remain on our shelf and provide me with a total number of files. These files are boxed and ready for shipment. At the moment, I do not have an inventory of what technologies they relate to. However, I believe our Docket system can generate a report that includes the title of each application and the lead inventor.
